Dear Members,

October has been a whirlwind! Arrived and disappeared in a flash. The new Committee has been hard at work settling into their new roles and I would like to take this opportunity to thank them all for their hard work. It's always nice to get a little pat on the back and word of encouragement no matter who you are, and they certainly deserve one, so a big thank to you all.

The Café is open, and we had a great month (despite the rain) welcoming Nula and Martin and their family into our Society. The coffee is excellent, the lunch we bought from the café on the changeover day was a big hit and Michael Hopper was spotted taste testing a delicious ice cream just to be sure! From the big smile on his face, I think he approved.

A great new exhibition this month is 'Scapes'. We change over December 3rd for the final time in 2022. We are also hosting our sculpture garden out the front, in any medium, so long as it spells out the word ART, is safe, and you are prepared for it to go on a walkabout with a friendly passer-by if it takes their fancy – but let's hope they stay put.

The Christmas Lunch is December 10 at 12pm at the Bowls Club, $35 a ticket, please book at the desk. I have been told on good authority that Santa will be appearing so don't miss out on that one!

We hosted Cr. Darren Taylor for a coffee this month too and he loves our plans for the future including some shade cloths and a fresh coat of paint on the building. We are slowly working towards applying for grants and going through the steps to make it all happen – it takes time, but I have to remind myself that when I joined RQAS we had no air conditioning, no lift and no café, so let's see what we can make happen in the next 10 years!

I attended the Brisbane Branch AGM and the State Branch meeting with Angela our Secretary. At this event the 135th celebration of the Society was held, and we had a slice of a beautiful blue cake to celebrate. The book written to commemorate the anniversary is called "Journeys in Art" by Boyd Craig and is well worth a read. I will leave a signed copy on the desk for you to look at but if you would like your own copy, please call the Petrie Terrace Gallery. This book carries on from the "Thornes and Petals" book by Bradbury and Cooke about the first 100 years of our story.

In November 2023 we will celebrate our Diamond Jubilee as the Gold Coast Branch which is a significant achievement, and we are making plans to mark this milestone accordingly. A final thanks to all the members who create amazing art, staff the desk and keep us running and open. It is the fellowship of this Society that has made it strong and successful for 135 years and almost 60 on the Gold Coast so let's celebrate together as we head towards the close of another year together.

TONI LUCAS RQAS GC

I always loved drawing, losing myself for hours just doodling. My dream was to be a commercial artist or an archaeologist. My parents' circumstances steered me into bank work. Five years of banking experience led to office jobs in Sydney before starting a family and moving to the Gold Coast.

At 32 I trained as a florist, loved and did that for over 36 years. At 35 I started to paint in my spare time, learning oils under Judi Parkinson. I kept my first painting and still love it: a copy of an Ivars Janson of the Mt. Lofty Ranges. It still surprises me to this day! I knew I had to paint! I began to use acrylic paints too, working between each medium, selling my work first to family and friends, then through a coffee shop at Helensvale. My dream was to become an artist, and I was on my way!! To add to household finances I worked as a florist by day and did party plan clothing sales at night, working around when my husband could be home with the children.

At the age of 49 I found I had a very aggressive tumour in my breast, which had spread through my cardiovascular system, so surgery, chemotherapy and radiation followed. Any thoughts of painting were the furthest from my mind. Three years went by, and I thought, if I'm going to be around a bit longer, I'd like to learn watercolours! I joined a group of ladies who were partners of Vietnam Veterans as I was, in an art therapy group tutored by Diana Cooke. I absolutely loved watercolours, the excitement and unpredictability was tantalising! After entering art shows and winning prizes, I was selling again! Such an exciting time after what I'd been through! This continued for four years, until my husband was diagnosed with prostate cancer, which he bravely fought for 2 years, but then sadly died at the age of 59, when I was 57. Once again my heart just wasn't in painting, so my paints sat there patiently waiting for me to feel that passion again.

When I returned art, I used pastels that had been left to me by a dear friend (who I'd met in Europe on a holiday) after she passed away. She was a very good artist from Shepparton in Victoria. I thought how disappointed she would be if I didn't use her beloved pastels. Then by adding charcoal and pencil to my watercolours and acrylics, my artworks became characterised by a variety of mediums, subjects and colours. This time I decided nothing was going to stop me from painting, and I have tackled some very difficult projects since, as I do love a challenge! I also love detail and realism. I feel I have my own style which really pleases me. I don't want my work to be a copy of anyone else's. For this reason I don't do long term classes with a particular tutor, as I would rather keep on developing my own style.

I am inspired by my surroundings, my life experiences, travel or even the way the light is hitting a particular object. I can't honestly say which is my favourite medium, as different subjects suit a particular medium, or which is my favourite subject....but I have noticed that trees appear in so many of my works! I do love to paint trees! I'm happy to do commissions too. I just know that three times proves it, as I keep coming back to it, and I know that this time I'm going to keep painting as long as I possibly can!

The fun and challenge of self-critiquing your paintings – David Ladley

If you're like me you may have quite a few dud paintings that have a doubtful future. When faced with this dilemma I consider three options.

- A: Dump some
- B: Paint the canvas with white paint, if not too lumpy, start again.
- C: Some may be OK for an attempt at rescue.

The rescue group.

1. Sit down and study each painting objectively. Turn it upside down for a new view. If you think it would help, ask your partner or a friend to sit and help you.
  2. Be honest. Acknowledge the good parts of your painting to stay motivated. Then search for weaknesses.
  3. Plan carefully which parts need to be worked on, it might be just to simplify the design.
  4. Perhaps freshening the colours could help. Do tonal values need strengthening? Shadows not dark enough, highlights not bright enough.
  5. Consider if the focal point is where it should be, or is clearly enough defined.
  6. Start to paint, keeping your brushwork bold and confident. Keep the edges sharp in the important parts and soft in the less important parts.
  7. Having made your adjustments, put the painting away for a day or two. Then re-evaluate how it looks. Ask your partner or friend again.
  8. If still not happy, keep readjusting. It's not a race. Trust your instinct!
- And let's be realistic, some paintings still don't make it. I often have to face up to option A! Or B!
